

Mediator and business attorney Kay Biga has been promoted to Associate Professor at the University of Wisconsin Superior. Biga has taught at the University of Wisconsin Superior since 1998, teaching a variety of management and business law classes. She has also published a number of journal articles, including "Smart Hiring in the Hospitality Industry: Legal and Business Perspectives" in the American Journal of Management. Her articles are available through Google Scholar.